"Once again I need to thank you for how much you have helped me feel better about myself. Everyday I am thankful for our "gifts" when I look in the mirror. Take care and I will definitely see you in the future!"

I had 6 areola tattoos over the past 10 years before coming to see Debi. I never realized that it didn't have to hurt! Debi was so professional and painless. She has the technique honed so that there was literally no pain involved. Despite multiple injections of anesthesia at other centers, I was always suffering by the middle of the procedure. I am so thankful that I found Debi and have no apprehension about going in for touch ups.

Debi is also very meticulous in her positioning of the pigment and checks and double checks to make sure that the result is just right. I would recommend Debi without reservation.

I have been creating beauty for women's faces since 1998. The creative aspect was the most exciting part for me - giving women a sense of natural beauty and the gift of waking up pretty every morning still gives me great satisfaction!

I started creating brows for women who had undergone chemotherapy and soon realized the need for areola and nipple re-pigmentation. Mastectomy's and breast reconstruction leave most women with surgical scars. These scars can be diminished through camouflage with permanent pigmentation.

Getting to be part of these women's journey is such a blessing to me. It is truly my pleasure to create the "icing on the cake". Breast cancer survivors want to restore what they lost and in doing so, feel whole again..

I also perform camouflage for facelift scars, accidents causing scarring, hair implants and many more loss of pigment issues.

Areola Repigmentation

Areola Repigmentation is a procedure that completes the final step for the mastectomy patient. Once medical treatments have been completed the option is worth consideration.

- Great Confidence builder for breast cancer patients
- Completes the reconstructive process physically, emotionally, and psychologically
- Reduce, and camouflage the scars from surgery
- Can be done without the presence of a grafted areola or nipple

Procedure Information

- Para-medical Applications
- Permanent Cosmetic Technician
- Micro-Pigmentation
- Advanced Areola Complex, Permanent Camouflage and Color Correction

Each unique procedure requires two sessions thirty days apart. We are able to closely match the areola of a single mastectomy and create a bilateral 3-D image when necessary. After the first treatment we are able to assess if a unilateral mastectomy patient needs a bilateral tattoo procedure.

Insurance Billing

According to the Women's Health Care Breast Cancer act of 1998, women have the right to receive this medical tattoo procedure. We accept all insurance companies for this procedure. Doctor referral and pre-authorization from the primary insurance company is required for service.

If a patient does not have insurance, we believe that all women have the right to receive this procedure. Please call the office to learn about our NANTR sponsored mastectomy tattoo for those who are without insurance.
